Globe Theatre Announces a $3 Million Dollar Donor to help Revive its Historic Building

September 29th, 2021 - Regina, Saskatchewan — Globe Theatre announced Andrew and Chantal MacCorquodale as a $3 million dollar donor that will receive naming rights to the theatre's building. The announcement took place on September 29th at 3:00 pm at Hotel Sask. This donation is part of a $10 million dollar Capital Campaign to renovate the historic Prince Edward building in downtown Regina.

Along with the donor announcement, the event also unveiled more details about the Capital Campaign, how the public can get involved, a sneak peek at the vision for the building, and the first look at the organization's re-brand done by Phoenix Group.

This event hosted many other past and present donors and supporters of Globe Theatre to build excitement around the future of downtown Regina and show appreciation for the people who have already donated. While construction on the building began in the spring of 2020, this will be the first public announcement on pivotal details of the project.

"[Andrew and Chantal] love LIVE, theatre, concerts and being able to do that here in Regina. In speaking with them, this was an important gift in many ways. It was about the arts, commitment to Regina and it's future and the downtown which is so important for a thriving community. With a very young family and in fact a new arrival, they want a future for their kids here as they have chosen to stay and make Regina their home. They, along with many of us, believe the Redevelopment of the Globe is the start of the plan to bring our city back to life downtown." – says Trevor Boquist, the Chair of Globe Theatre's Capital Campaign.

Andrew and Chantal will not be taking questions or an interview; however, a press package will be available after the event with more information including a written statement from them.
